

And for the couple who has everything...

The thing about two becoming one, is that you may soon have two of everything. The couple who doesn't need another serving platter or set of tumblers, should take a look at Heifer International. It's a wonderful service allowing you to create an online registry of gifts which will help others – such as a flock of geese, or a goat.

Heifer turns the recipients into donors themselves: each recipient of a Heifer animal promises to give the firstborn offspring of their animal to a neighbour in need, and that neighbour in turn makes the same promise. A map on the website shows you all the countries in which this organisation is active, and the projects with which it is helping. Go to www.heifer.org to find out more. Click on Give and then Registry to find out how to set up your registry.

If you prefer something closer to home, online registry The Wedding Gift List has, as well as the usual gifts, a section which allows guests to give to the Pebbles Project, a charity based in the Western Cape, offering education and support to children with special needs, especially as a result of Foetal Alcohol Spectrum Disorder.
